

System Architecture

The bookstore app has four layers: web, auth, database, and reporting.

The auth module reads the users and sessions tables, and is configured through auth.ini.

The [database] section of app.toml sets the connection and the seed_tables list.

Orders flow from the web layer into the orders table, and each order_item links back to a book.